F. D. R.'S TASK

The major task facing President Roosevelt in his address to the nation tonight, is that of rallying the people of the Americas, north and south, to a supreme productive effort.

We don't believe that can be done rehashing old speeches.

We don't believe it can done by rehashing old schemes.

The President must lead the people to a new position.

That new position can and should be that in which America is strongest: Naval might and productive capacity.

Our Army is NOT ready. Largely because we HAVE NOT produced the necessary equipment.

But our NAVY is ready to patrol the Atlantic, and see that supplies reach the fighting front.

The time has come for the American Navy to assume control of the Atlantic. We favor it being done openly. To do things in a roundabout way will not rally the American people. If we're on a Crusade to save Democracy, let's do it in the traditional American way.

From January 1 to July 31, 1941, a total of15,750,000 man days of work were LOST by strikes, etc.

You can't beat Hitler with a record like that!

The President must be the Happy Warrior he was in 1933, and lead America to new achievements.

The President DOES NOT WANT us to get into a "shooting war." Nor does any other sound-thinking person. But people don't always get their "wants."

A slow, defensive war against the aggressor nations might easily last from ten to twenty years and let the accumulated resources of the world to exhaustion. A bold stand NOW will rally Britain, Russia, Turkey, the Free French and others to a united front that will shorten the end to two years.

America can't take a bold stand until the morale of the nation is aroused. That's the task of our great President.

WE ARE NOT SECURE!

Those poorly informed American who are being lulled into a false sense of security by the vast two oceans bordering our shores, should be discredited once and for all.

Every week, yes, every day, giant bombing planes are being flown to England from America. One of the new Liberator bombers, manufactured in this country, has made the flight to Ireland in seven and one-half hours!

Perhaps that makes you feel good.

Then WAKE UP and realize that Hitler can send bombers flying across the ocean, too!

And Hitler wouldn't be deterred if they didn't make the round trip . . . not if h's bombers could unload fire and death and panic upon our exposed eastern cities.

The Atlantic is no longer defense from attack.

Hitler has great bombing planes that can easily span the Atlantic.

And our eastern cities DO NOT have anti-aircraft protection.

What must we do?

We must roll materials for Britain from our assembly lines, faster, FASTER, FASTER!

We must unite in spirit.

We must silence the exponents of smugness and stop listening to the smooth-whispering fable-tellers, that we are immune.

We are only seven and one-half hours flight from bombing!

NAZI TIMETABLE

From Winchester Star

Wallace Deuel, who was a correspondent in Berlin for many years and saw the German army in action in France, predicted last winter that the Nazis would defeat the Russians in three weeks. Other correspondents, aware of the power of the German army, also predicted a quick end of the Soviet regime in case he Reich decided to attack the Bear.

But, if memory serves aright, Hitler never issued an official timetable giving the future location of the German troops on Russian soil with the dates of occupation listed beside the seized towns. But the Germans did appear to experience in the reliability of the many timetables issued by others. Thus, when the Nazi troops failed to make commensurate progress, it was easy to assert that the Germans had been fooled by Russian strength, that they had broken from their own clever.

No doubt the correspondents and others who estimated the time needed for a Nazi success in Russia were sincere. Those who had seen the German army thrust through France certainly must have been impressed by that performance. But it is to be doubted the Germans were sincere when they accepted these time tables, and gave the impression they believed in them.

Hitler, despite his penchent for awakening the world to what unbridled force and aggressiveness can do, still is an expert at putting the inhabitants to sleep. This is shown clearly by what happened in the past. Hitler permitted the French to slumber behind the Maginot Line, although plans for taking that luxurious fortification belt from the rear had been made long before. The more soundly France slept in its mythical security the happier der Fuehrer undoubtedly became.

It is therefore possible that Hitler permitted himself to accept the time tables prepared by others on the Russian war in the hope that the world, seeing the Nazis unable to make the speed expected in Russia, would settle down in a repose which would soften somewhat its growing efforts to deal with him.

Gigantic Hole Will Aid Defense—a Copper Pit

MORENCI, ARIZ.—An open pit copper mine, a great national defense aid and one of the largest privately financed development projects in America's history, will begin full operation soon.

Equipment totaling $34,000,000 will be provided to move 75,000 tons of material every 24 hours. Of this amount 29,050 tons will be actual copper ore, from which an average of 500,000 pounds of 99.75 per cent pure copper will be extracted.

Construction necessary for the job includes a smokestack 602 feet high, the tallest in the world, a power plant, smelter, mill, electric, carpenter and machine shops, and a warehouse.

In September, 1937, at the site of the present workings, nothing existed but a mountain. By May 1, 1941, 46,660,000 tons of material had been stripped, leaving a pit nearly ready for operation.

The earth is removed by electric shovels loading 4½ cubic yards at a time, and is deposited in 42-ton trucks or in trains to be taken to the mill.

Don't take my WORD for it!

MONTICELLO

Thomas Jefferson's famous house.

Bird's-eye view: Monticello stands on a mountaintop in the Blue Ridge three miles from Charlottesville, Va.

Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, and third President of the United States, was the sole architect of the house which he desired to be "a thing of symmetry and taste."

Jefferson's ancestral home, Shadwell, burned to the ground in the winter of 1770. He saved nothing but his cherished "fiddle." Monticello, already begun, was hastily completed.

Monticello is Italian for "little mountain." The house is now preserved as a historic shrine.

Jefferson's likeness and a bas-relief (bah-rel-LEEF) of his famous house are to be found on the new Jefferson nickel." The United States five-cent piece of latest mintage.

BENEFITS OF THE C. C. C.

Editor Times-Virginian,

The CCC like the alphabetic code had its birth in the depression. It was one of the great movements motivated by great great minds to help meet the adverse conditions. The primary motive of CCC is "to develop the youth, and conserve the natural resources of these United States of ours and its territories. Therefore, the work of CCC is pioneer fashion. Build dams, cut runnels, bridge brooks and reclaim waste lands, make several blades of vege-ation grow where only one grew, and be heroes in conserving the forests from fire. But what is more valuable than natural resources, is the non-developed youth of the country and the slums of the city whose environment is not conducive to their well being.

The CCC offers this religion in the spirit of the founders of our country, all kinds of faith are tolerated. Along the lines of education, that kind which suits the natural make-up of the individual. Both muscle and mind, balance humanity, well rounded and symetrical development. Work by a system, times for recreation: "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

The branching of boys from different parts of the country and teaching them all Americanism, blots out much of the non-essential sectional ideas and practices. The same uniform on all, pay according to rank. For almost 8 years CCC has been the onward march.

Many poor families who have never had $25 every month, 12 months a year coming to them, are blessed. If many poor farmers, with a year for 22 years (in would have had $6,600 passed through his hands, a son in CCC is some benefit. Sending some training from many angles, and while schooling, dental, hospitalization and recreation, more people will realize the value of C C C and the condition which brought it into being. The work has done, and is doing, the rehabilitation of the youth, who has not reached by other helpful organizations, all would say make it a permanent, give it out coal regardless and no politics.

At the ninth annual meeting of the board of directors of the Virginia Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association, held last week in Farmville, officers of the were reelected and E. D. Brooks, secretary-treasurer reported the association is in the best condition it has ever been in.

The officers are:

President, Chas. T. Moses, of Appomattox;

Secretary, treasurer, E. D. Brooks, of Farmville;

Vice-president, M. C. Johnson, of Spencer;

General manager, Thomas B. Hall, of Farmville;

Farmville field agent, M. K. Jones.

The association is composed of 7,000 tobacco farmers in the 17 counties that comprise the Virginia dark-fired tobacco belt.

It maintains tobacco warehouses at Farmville, Appomattox, Bedford and Blackstone.

The dark tobacco markets will open for the season on December 8.

COUNTY COMMITTEES MAY BE REDUCED IN SIZE

In the selection of community committeemen, and delegates to a county convention who will elect the county committee of the Agricultural Conservation Association, farmers participating in the AAA program are asked to give serious consideration to the future efficiency and usefulness of the program, says the state AAA committee.

It is essential that farmers give careful thought to the importance of the work to be done by the committees and the desirability of selecting well qualified men who are able to give some time to the work of the AAA officials.

Review Committee

The present county committees have been asked to review the size of the communities in the county before holding the election in the fall or two, and where it is found that the number of farms in a community exceeds approximately 75, serious consideration be given to increasing the number of communities. The state committee is of the opinion that in many counties communities are too large for county committeemen to function effective job because of their lack of knowledge of many of the farms.

In view of the many changes and the need for quick action as a result of the national emergency, it is considered more important than ever before that each community committee have relatively fewer farmers to contact. Moreover, this will increase the speed and efficiency committeeman contacts farmers in their communities in relating to the program.

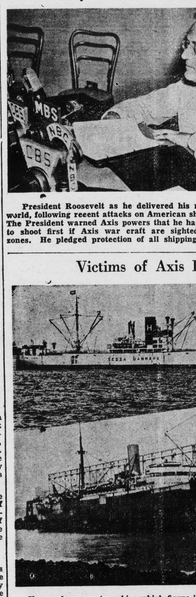
Orders Navy to Free Western Sea of Raiders



President Roosevelt as he delivered his momentous message to the world, following recent attacks on American shipping by Axis submarines. The President warned Axis powers that he had issued orders to the navy to shoot first if Axis war craft are sighted within American defense zones. He pledged protection of all shipping.

Agricultural Defense Board Is Named Here

Now that Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has drafted us as U. S. Department of Agriculture County Defense Board, we are ready and willing to cooperate with all agencies in our national defense program. We have answered the call of the secretary by backing the efforts of the committeeman by making farmers conscious of the vital importance of the winter cover crops as a national defense measure.

Because legume cover crops supply nitrogen to the soil they take added significance this winter. Chemical nitrogen is required for national defense needs. Therefore, farmers can make more nitrogen available for defense by growing crops that build up nitrogen supplies in the soil.

The winter legumes take nitrogen from the everlasting supply in the air and put it back into the ores, a the non-developed youth of the country and the slums of the city whose environment is not conducive to their well being.

Note On Ponds

Did you know that fertilization of ponds increases the growth of fish? The effect is to stimulate the growth of plant life which in turn nourishes the fish. Yet, some folks still believe fertilization affects the livestock or people who consume the livestock products. Perhaps they could gather a few lessons from the fish.

There are far more "cans" in the A.A.A. program than "can'ts" 100 to 1. It's the cans that committeemen are now talking to their neighbors in Appomattox county. If the committeemen will keep their neighbors informed on what they can do in the A.A.A program and encourage them to do it, all of us will hear much less about the can'ts.

Bright Tobacco Price Is Nearly 30c Per Pound

Tobacco markets in Virginia's famous Old Belt opened Tuesday, September 16, to dispose of a crop estimated at 240,490,000 pounds, which is about 15 per cent less than last year's crop. Although the quality of the leaf is expected to reflect the severe droughts of the late spring and early summer months, tobacco men look for better prices than last year, in line with the levels of other Southern markets, which have averaged an increase of $4.78 a hundred, according to Department of Agriculture reports.

Twelve Government graders are classifying the leaf at the Danville market according to government standards. Average prices for the grades will be posted in the warehouses for the information of the growers.

Yesterday the Danville tobacco market disposed of 534,282 pounds of leaf, for $151,175.90, an average of $28.29 per hundred weight.

Opening day sales at Danville were 1,230,966 pounds, at an average of $29.36.

Thus, the opening averages were almost $10 a pound higher than last year's.

The price average at South Boston warehouses yesterday was $28.-86. All floors were cleared, indicating growers were in no great hurry to sell.

As soon as rain falls to aid in conditioning the leaf, tobacco sales are expected to increase in volume.

U. S. Navy Offers Greater Opportunities to Recruits; Inquiries Are Invited Here

Navy Will Get Class 1-A Lists

Richmond, Sept. 17.- (By V P A)- The United States Navy Recruiting Station in Richmond has announced that beginning September 15, the station will receive a list of men throughout the Virginia district who have been placed in class 1-A for Selective Service. Recruiting officers will make an effort to see as many of these men as possible, and give them an opportunity to volunteer their services in the Navy for the period of the national emergency.

"Crews to man new ships must be trained in advance," Lieutenant Commander Herbert Chandler, officer in charge of Virginia recruiting, stated, "and expert technicians must be ready to man ships as they come off the ways."

At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, Calvin H. Robinson, of the Times-Virginian, will serve as local "Navy Editor" to help the Navy in giving ambitious local young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean Navy" offers them for technical training, and advancement as they serve their country in this emergency.

According to an announcement made public in Washington, a limited number of additional men between the ages of 17 and 50 will be given a chance, by enlistment in the Navy or Naval Reserve, to get to the top, with big pay, in jobs which by their aptitude and as a result of examination they show themselves fitted, from among nearly 50 different trades and vocations. These include such callings as aviation machinest, dental technician, photographer, diesel engineer, radio technician, electrician, welder, storekeeper, and baker. Enlisted men may also qualify for commissions as officers.

Beginning this week, the Navy plans for a limited time to accept new qualified men for training. These men will be sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will be given regular Navy pay and the Navy's free schooling is valued at hundreds of dollars.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their futures than right now," said Secretary Knox.

In outlining the many advantages offered by enlistment in the United States Navy, Mr. Robinson, Navy Editor of the Times-Virginian, said. "It is possible for a bright young man to increase his pay seven times during his first enlistment and he can earn as much as $126 a month. This monthly figure is actually worth much more when it is remembered that the man has few living expenses and is provided with the finest of medical and dental care."

"You have all your food and lodging and also your original outfit of clothing provided by Uncle Sam free. On top of this you get free travel and advantage in colorful places— a thing few civilians can afford."

As Navy Editor, Mr. Robinson has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested, and in addition will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now affords.

If you are interested, call by the Times-Virginian office
